

HERE'S A PRETTY MESS

Phoenix Has a Genuine Sensation.

The Grand Jury Draws a Full Hand.

And a Merchant of This City Finds Himself in a Rather Unenviable Predicament.

Phoenix has a—well, a sensation.

It created quite a breeze upon the streets, too, late yesterday afternoon, when it became noised about, rather guardedly, that one of the large merchants, and a well-known citizen, had run a tilt with the Grand Jury and got worsted.

Ever since it was empaneled on Monday, the Jury has been at work behind closed doors and from out the secret chamber there have floated dark hints of transactions that were to thrill the people of the entire city.

The people will, very probably, be duly thrilled.

Yesterday the Grand Jury came into Court and, through the Foreman, informed Judge Kibby that they were ready to submit a partial report. The Jury was given the right of way, as is customary in such cases, and the foreman handed up two indictments.

The first of these was against William Hibbard, upon a charge of carrying liquor upon the White Mountain Indian Reservation.

Hibbard has already been held to answer upon preliminary examination, and is now on bail. He will be arrested at once.

The second indictment was different. It was a joint affair, carrying with it the anticipated sensation, and, upon looking at it, Judge Kibby fixed the bail of one of the indicted parties at $500 and of the other at $200.

Bench warrants were directed issued, and, within fifteen minutes, Harry Bernard, the proprietor of the "City of Paris" store, and Sylvester Zunica had been brought into court to answer a charge of unlawful cohabitation. Bernard is a well-known merchant of Phoenix, and the woman is a not overly young or very pretty article of femininity.

Bernard, it appears from the case that it is alleged to have been made out against him before the Grand Jury, has been keeping the woman in a room at the rear of his store for about nine months past.

He came here from Tempe, where he formerly kept store and where he had separated from his wife some little time ago, and the woman Sylvester appeared here at about the same time.

Since that time the officers claim that the couple have been living together, and the complaint has been lodged against them under the provisions of the Edmunds act intended for the suppression of polygamy.

"It is not," said a court officer to a reporter of THE REPUBLICAN yesterday, "the intention to make the provisions of this act burdensome, but this was a flagrant case and we were compelled to take cognizance of it on behalf of the morals of the community."

Both Bernard and the woman gave bail yesterday, and were released.

There seems to be a little doubt as to whether the case will ever go to trial, and last night it was rumored that the couple had been married prior to the finding of the indictment.

Sure Sign.

"Smithkins has made lots of money, hasn't he?"

"Yes; anyone can tell he's rich."

"How?"

"He walks down to his office every day to save car-fare."

As Our Neighbors See Us.

The Tempe News.

The first number of Phoenix' new paper, the Arizona Republican, will be issued Monday. Politically, the paper will be Republican, but in its efforts to advance the interests of this valley, politics will be thrown aside, and the Republican will do its full share to aid the onward march of progress. The News takes pleasure in welcoming the newcomer, and wishes it deserved success.

Entertainment Postponed.

The entertainment that was to have been given on the evening of the 23d, at the Opera House, has been postponed till Tuesday, May 27, on which date a very entertaining programme will be given. This will be for the benefit of the McMillin Building Fund, to enable the trustees to complete the building which was begun last winter. Many of the sweetest local singers will participate, and the instrumental music will be particularly fine, including selections by Miss Mary Rickerson, Mr. M. W. Harris, of San Francisco, and Prof. Herman of Denver. Messrs. Case, Tomlinson and others will give recitations.

Among the vocalists to appear we notice the names of Mrs. Frank Cox, Misses Hill and Rickerson, Messrs. D. Williams, Hill, Taylor and others.

Against Statehood.

Yuma Sentinel.

There seems to be a disposition on the part of a few politicians in Arizona to persistently push forward the claims of the Territory for statehood. The taxpayers do not ask for the admission of Arizona as a State; the population and taxable wealth of the Territory do not warrant it, and by assuming the responsibilities of State government, taxes already heavy, will be greatly increased, and nothing gained. Capital will not invest where the tax rate is heavy; and we all know that the levy in this Territory "could not stand much of a raise." The lesson taught by Nevada should be heeded by the State-making apostles of Arizona. The additional cost to the taxpayers by playing at State government would be at the lowest possible notch $125,000 per annum. And in return what would be received? Nothing, absolutely nothing, unless we count a long list of new and useless office holders, as being of some value. On the other hand, the liberal expenditures made by the national government in our behalf would be withdrawn; our credit which now stands first class, would be lowered; immigrants would hesitate about settling in a country which would be truly in an experimental condition, and capital carefully steer clear from the dangers and uncertainties attendant upon a section assuming burdens it could not bear. The times and conditions are not now favorable to Statehood; in a few years Arizona will be prepared for the responsibilities and expense of self-government, but this is not the accepted time.

Of Course, This Settles It.

Prescott Courier.

The statement that Delegate Mark Smith is not known in the Departments of Washington, is a black falsehood. He is well and favorably known there. The other statement that he has not worked for mail service on the Juniper route is equally false, and any Republican gentleman will say so.

A Burning Question.

An exchange provides the interesting information that a Texas debating society recently selected for a subject:

"Is it proper to sound the r in dorg?" A South Carolina gentleman brings the information that the letter r has no business in the word, but that the letter w in "dawn" is silent, except so far as it affects the quality of the a.

A Significant Hint.

From the Baltimore American.

That man who has just passed forty days without food is probably in training for a season at a summer resort that doesn't advertise.

Again in the Field.

From the Boston Herald.

The announcement from Washington that every member of the Massachusetts delegation in Congress will be a candidate for re-election this fall is calculated to upset the plans of several ambitious Republican statesmen in the Fifth district, who have been waiting to step into General Banks' shoes. The Bobbin Boy is evidently not ready to go onto the retired political list.

Novel Application of the Camera.

Carpentry and Building.

A graphic history of the new library building at Washington is being prepared. At regular intervals, from the top of the building, occupied by the superintending architect and his force of draftsmen, a camera is turned upon the work, which at present consists only of a great hole dug out in the square east of the Capitol grounds.

The resulting picture shows every detail of the condition of the work, the height of the foundation wall, the piles of material on hand, &c. It is proposed to file these photographs away, properly labelled in such form that they can be produced if any question arises as to what was done or was not done at any stage of the work.

California Wild Horses.

Three bands of wild horses roam the plains east of Lancaster, says the Antelope Valley Times. Whence they came, how long they have thus roamed, or the exact number of them, no one seems to know. Several horses and colts have been captured from these bands each spring for a number of years. Last year one man caught three colts that had been separated from the band by the train toward Rosamund. The colts caught in the same way a couple of weeks ago, and presented to Miss Rena McPhail, has become so gentle that it follows her all around. Last week the cattlemen saw the band of wild horses, gave them chase, and caught two colts and one mare.

THEY ARE OFFICERS

AND NOT MERELY EMPLOYEES OF BOARDS.

End of the First Round of the Struggle For the Territorial Office.

Score first blood for the Territorial administration.

Agreeable to his announced intention Judge Kibby, in the District court yesterday delivered his opinion upon the point raised by the defense in the so-called Asylum cases, as to whether Superintendent Titus and Secretary of the Asylum Board Alexander were officers or merely employees. The decision, of course, included the same point raised in the case against Behan, Superintendent of the Territorial Prison.

These cases were brought, it will be remembered, by the Territory upon the relation of the Attorney-General, to secure possession of offices alleged to have been usurped by defendants, who demurred, mainly upon the ground that the places held were employments terminable at the will and pleasure only of the employers, the Prison and Asylum Boards, and not public offices.

In his decision yesterday, Judge Kibby decided that the positions held were offices within the meaning of the law, the incumbents drawing pay from and being responsible to the Territory, and not merely employments.

The hearing on the Asylum cases proper, with the Behan and all cases, was set for Friday.

A Magnet Saved His Eyes.

From the Albany Journal.

James Threadgill was working as usual the other day in Shevlin's boiler shop on Church street. Suddenly a steel splinter from the edge of a chisel struck his left eye, burying itself in the eyeball to such a depth that Doctor Munson, to whose office the unfortunate man was removed, was unable to extract it with a forceps. With the assistance of Doctor Van Allen a successful operation was performed. A powerful magnet was applied to the wound and a splinter of steel one-sixteenth of an inch in width and three-eighths of an inch in length was drawn out. This operation, usually unsuccessful, will save, it is thought, the sight of the eye.
